DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification does not disclose the method of reducing the initial size of the valve body.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 2, and 5 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rawstron.

Rawstron discloses a ball valve comprising a quarter turn ball; a thicker portion where the valve stem enters the housing; and a stem that is perpendicular to a flow path.

Art Unit: 3754

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rawstron.

Rawstron discloses the claimed invention except for the relative thinner section where the valve stem enters the housing the housing. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to make the opposite side more massive than the side with the stem if the environment so called for it, as it has been held that where the general conditions of the claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233. Thickness verses strength characteristics are notoriously well known in the art. If an area requires more strength, a portion is made thicker. If less strength is needed material is removed to save on cost.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Carlson, Lee, and Aldridge disclose types of ball valves.

Art Unit: 3754
